VOM HOLZBAUER. FÜR HOLZBAUER.

Future market – object construction and the efficient technical solution for it – tectofix

Dear friends of timber construction,

The object- and facade construction are the future market. It is a challenge for the timber construction industry to produce these products economically and efficiently. The tectofix prefabrication system is the ideal partner for reaching this goal.

This year on November 16th it's time again to warmly invite you and your employees to our now traditional information day tectofix – timber construction- and carpenter meeting.

Come and see for yourself at a personal demonstration. Also talk to users who have used the new facade tool for open wooden facade elements in their daily work.

Registration under info@tectofix.de is requested, but you are also welcome as a spontaneous visitor!
